

WALKING TREE SETS TRAP FOR MI-6 SECRET AGENT MONTY

The attempts on Agent Monty's life continue.

This afternoon at approximately 3 PM a Walking Tree set a new trap for Agent Monty – unaware that he was watching the whole time from behind the bamboo curtain.

Agent Monty reappeared when the Walking Tree was leaving, camouflaging himself in the underbrush in front of Rock of Claws.

Once the tree left, Agent Monty examined the trap. “They keep leaving me food gifts,” he thought. “But not the right stuff. And someone should tell them I like my water dish shaken, not stirred” he mumbled as he walked away indignantly. He immediately called an interspecies meeting with his roommate, Spirit, to determine what their next plan of action should be.

The plans have remained top secret; however, Spirit was shown giving Agent Monty lessons on how to climb the fence like a monkey. Agent Monty obviously aced this lesson, because he was spotted later sitting on one of Spirit's shelves.

Agent Monty lives to enjoy another day