

MI-6 SECRET AGENT MONTY CAPTURED!

This morning the Walking Tree set an additional trap for Secret Agent Monty. Monty watched from a safe vantage point in something called the “food lockout” as the additional trap was set. He tried to communicate with the Walking Tree, but was unsuccessful.

At approximately 3 pm today, Secret Agent Monty entered the trap as he always does to get some food. This time, however, the trap snapped shut and Monty was caught!

Fearing the worst, Monty tried sending telepathic signals to MI-6 to let them know of his predicament.

However, to his surprise, his captors provided him private limousine service to a small suite filled with his favorite foods. Monty is not sure exactly what kind of torture this is, but he likes it! He overheard something about this being only temporary, and that he would be moved to a Rat-A-Tat suite of rooms in the near future – and would have his own personal maid named “Chelsea.”

Stay tuned for updates on Monty’s new home....
