

FROM THE LAW FIRM OF CATZ, KATS, MOREKATZ AND A RAT

October 15, 2017

Dear Sir/Madam:

On behalf of our client, Joseph Lion, King of the Tampageti, we are contacting you regarding a serious error made in the Daily Updates posted by your company.

Our client, Joseph Lion, was erroneously identified as CAMERON in a picture that was posted in the Daily Updates for millions of people to see (Exhibit 1). This caused our client unspeakable anxiety, which resulted in him fainting while he was on vacation (Exhibit 2). After he awoke, it was necessary for him to spend the rest of the day in the den due to the shame and embarrassment this caused him.

It also resulted in him being laughed at and ridiculed by other members of the gated community known as Big Cat Rescue (Exhibit 3).

Although the caption on the picture was corrected, it had already been sent out and reached millions of fans, further exposing my client to shame and ridicule.

Therefore, he demands (a) extra time in the Vacation Rotation, (b) 125 pounds of turkey legs, and (c) a retraction and apology to be printed in the Daily Updates ASAP.

Sincerely,

Watsa Wrongwitu, Partner
The Law Firm of Catz, Kats, Morekatz and a Rat

Viewer Pix

Big cat friend, Diane Buckler got this great snapshot of Keeper Afton and Cameron from Carole's behind the scenes walkabout.

Exhibit 1

Exhibit 2

Exhibit 3