
LETTER TO THE MANAGEMENT

November 17, 2016

Dear Sir/Madam,

FOUR NEW TIGERS? Four new tigers? What are you thinking?

Do you realize what my life is like already trying to keep my brothers in line? You wonder why I am a tiny bit cranky sometimes. If you had to keep these two boys in line you would be cranky, too!

Just what I need, two more females for them to drool over. It's not bad enough that whenever Zabu is on vacation they walk around with their eyes popping out of their heads and their tongues hanging out, now I'm going to have to worry about two more females.

And poor TJ. Heaven knows he can't get sleep now; wait until Hoover smells the new girls on the block. There will be mooing 24 hours a day. TJ will need something to give him some relief. I suggest Southern Comfort. For that matter, I want some, too. Please fill my water bowl with it immediately.

Four new tigers. Sigh ...

Sincerely,

Amanda Tigress
