
LETTER TO THE MANAGEMENT

December 31, 2017

Dear Sir/Madam:

Please do not be alarmed when you come to feed us tomorrow and our enclosure is empty. We have gone to rescue our Secretary from the 90+ inches of snow she has gotten in the past few days at Nueva North Pole (formerly known as Erie, PA).

We believe that she is going stir crazy(ier) in this horrible situation, and we feel we must go. As you can see from the photo, we have the equipment and are ready to be on our way.

Please prepare an enclosure for her to stay in when we arrive back home to Big Cat Rescue. If there is not an empty enclosure for her, she can stay with us until suitable accommodations can be provided.

We have two feeding lockouts on our enclosure, so Cam and I will share one and the Secretary can use the other. Please note that she likes her meat well done.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Zabu and Cameron
(Sent via Lori D., Secretary to the Cats)

(P.S. Joseph says he thinks she should be introduced to his friend Pokey as soon as possible so that she gets the total experience. Seth and Andy are ready to share their gardening duties with her since they know she likes plants, and BillErnie is thrilled at the thought of another feeding lockout to stalk.)
