

---

---

LETTER TO THE MANAGEMENT

---

---

February 17, 2018

Dear Sir/Madam:

Nobody listens to me. I warned them about the Big Cat Rescue Salon and Spa. Didn't you see me warn them? Didn't I tell them not to go? But did they listen? Noooooo... Heaven forbid the King and a stinky tiger should listen to a mere cougar. Harumph.

First Gabrielle ignored my warning, and now Joseph. The haircuts they gave me and Gabrielle were bad enough; did you see what they did to Joseph? Oh my lion! The King is NOT going to be happy today when he wakes up and sees what happened to his dreadlocks! He has been working on them for a couple of months now. It definitely ain't gon be irie, mon!

To make matters worse, not only did they shave his head, but they put his ... lion parts ... on display for everyone to see! Shameless, just shameless. The FCC censors are probably drafting a letter of complaint right now.

At least when they covered him, they made sure the towels were the proper colors for royalty. That may get them some points, but I doubt it.

If only they would have listened to me ...

Sincerely,

Reise Cougar
(Sent via Lori D., Secretary to the Cats)

PS –

HRL Nikita and Cameron were both laughing too hard to comment at the present time.

