
LETTER TO THE MANAGEMENT

April 14, 2018

Dear Sir/Madam:

I find that once again I have to write to you concerning the conditions in the Vacation Rotation. If you look up the meaning of VACATION in Webster's Dictionary, you will find: 1: a period spent away from home or business in travel or recreation.

This past stay in the "vacation" rotation was anything but. First of all, we were locked in the Feeding Station for an entire day while a ditch was dug. I could easily have dug that for you had you told me where you wanted it. Look at how well I've dug holes when I wanted out of the VR before! And we should have been compensated and given an extra day of vacation because of this inconvenience. Everybody else gets extra days but us!

Second, nowhere in that definition above does it say we will be "nagged constantly to eat" or "stared at by the stinky Texas Tigers." (The verdict is still out on that new stinky tiger across the street.)

Third, we were not given the proper number of turtle toys. Bu was nice enough to give me hers, but then she wanted to take it back so I had to put her in her place.

And last, but not least, it was not necessary to fire Jose. Jose did nothing wrong. To be honest, I don't even remember anybody named Jose. Oh. Wait. Bu said she was talking about a fire HOSE. My mistake. (First one this year.)

Trip Rating: * * * out of * * * * * stars

Sincerely,

Cameron Lion
