

---

---

LETTER TO THE MANAGEMENT

---

---

April 15, 2018

Dear Sir/Madam:

Please, I beg of you, take note of my request. I need a vacation after our vacation.

Everyone knows I live with the most needy lion ever put on the face of this earth. I can't take 10 steps without him getting up and walking behind me. He just can't stand to be alone. And we're talking every hour of every day. I can't even get alone time to go to the bathroom! I was hoping that the book he got from King Joseph for Christmas ("Overcoming Jealousy and Possessiveness") would do some good, but all he did was shred it.

And his jealousy .... well, need I say more? His jealousy is legendary.

He NEVER listens to me. I was telling him all about the fire hose hammock and how great it is. Somehow he turned that around to a story about someone named Jose getting fired and he was getting all worked up. Sigh.

And about the turtle incident. Did you see that? I caught the turtle and wanted to play with it. I brought it to show him and immediately he took it as his. And then tried to attack me when I walked over to see what he was doing to it!

I have had it. I need a vacation. Alone. By myself. For at least 5 days.

I do NOT, however, wish to stay at the Big Cat Rescue Spa. I have heard wayyyyy too many stories about that place.

Please, for my own sanity, send me to a hotel, a motel, or let me stay in the Gift Shop. The Secretary even said she would put me up.

Please. Before I go crazy.

Sincerely,

Zabu Tigress
(Sent via Lori D., Secretary to the Cats)